Evidently the colder weather is making the people think of warmer clothing, for we have never handled such crowds since we started in business here.

Of course the well-known fact that this consignment stock is made up from the entire cloth output of one mill which was secured at half the usual prices by a well-known Boston house has something to do with the rush.

CLUBS WILL CONTEST IT

Enforcement of Liquor License Law to Be Prevented.

RECENT DECISION'S BEARING

Only Three Hotels Have Had License Renewal Applications Sent to the Building Inspector—W. P. Keene Made Inspector of Electric Lighting—Daily Orders Issued.

That there is to be a court contest between the clubs and the excise officials in case any should continue to dispense liquors without a license admits of no doubt whatever.

As was stated this morning that under the provisions of section 8 of the act approved March 3, 1893, the prosecuting attorney will cause warrants to be procured for the principal in each case of alleged violation, the belief that a charge can be easily maintained.

The difference between existing clubs and the one whose case is at issue is a precedent is stated thus: In the suit tried before Judge Kimball it was shown that there was no attempt to sell for a profit, and that the club membership merely kept liquors for membership use; but it is claimed that with most other organizations a large part of the revenue for maintenance comes through the bar.

Under section 8 it is made unlawful to sell liquors at retail at any barroom, "or other place," without first obtaining a license therefor.

The neglectful saloonkeepers and wholesale dealers were brought to a standstill this morning, and their customers were obliged to go elsewhere for the day's supply, when the fact became apparent that no license had been obtained. It was a bad day for a standstill in that particular business, being Saturday, market day, and a cold, wet day combined, but there was no remedy.

FAVORS THE WHOLESALERS.
The wholesalers were able to adjust matters, as the excise board was in session the greater part of the day, and the reputable dealer who called with his fee and application experienced no delay in securing action.

With the retailers it was different, as the forms of procuring signatures of the residents and to be observed, and that is not the work of a moment. It does not end the preliminary proceedings, either, for the police must inspect the returns and report back the result, and this and other duties consume a good deal of time.

Only three hotels have so far had their applications for license renewals referred to the building inspector for a certificate respecting fire escapes. One of the buildings measured a few less than fifty feet in height, and was, under the law, exempted.

Many of the hotels are fully covered by the equipment, and for those still unsupplied provision will doubtless be made, since it is not customary to be rigid in the enforcement of the license law.

DAILY ORDERS ISSUED.
By order issued today Walter P. Keene was appointed inspector of electric lighting at a salary of $3 per day.

It was also ordered to-day that water main assessments be collected under the decision in the Burdett case, as against the following property: Lots 1 and 3, square 1009; south 30 feet of lot 14, square 1077; lots 6, 7, and 8, square 2, Fairview Heights, and lot 10, square 1027.

Fred W. Reeves obtained a permit to-day for the construction of five dwellings of brick and stone material at Nos. 1371 to 1377 Kenesaw avenue, and No. 3001 Fourteenth street northwest. The buildings are to be three stories in height, with concrete and brick foundations and masonry roof. They will be heated with steam. The cost of construction is placed at $25,000.

STREET CLEANING SUGGESTION.
In his recent report to the Commissioners of the operations of the street cleaning department for the past year, Superintendent McKensie took occasion to make a number of suggestions in line with the work in his charge, and one of these was a recommendation for the action for the department in relation to the cleaning of the ice and snow from gutters and crosswalks.

Maj. McKensie's proposed amendment is to require the owners of unsurveyed lots to remove from the roadway in front of their premises, as well as from the sidewalks and alleys, "all sand, gravel or other refuse matter" that may fall or be washed upon them from the adjacent embankments. The present requirement omits the roadway.

In connection with the general subject of street cleaning and the requirements of the act referred to, Maj. McKensie said: "To do the work required of the Commissioners, under the act of March 2, 1895, would involve a very large sum, should the winter be a severe one; much larger than would seem apparent. The cost, however, might be materially reduced by a regulation requiring in the case of sidewalks the owner, occupant or tenant of any property after every fall of snow or ice to keep them open on their respective fronts. It would add little, if any, to the expense, when cleaning off their sidewalks, to do so."

PARTY DEFEAT POSSIBLE.

New York Republican is Fearful That State Will Go Democratic.

A prominent New York Republican, who is today in Washington, says to the Times reporter that he has within the past few days become very uneasy over the situation in that State, and that he feels apprehensive that the Democrats may be successful.

This conclusion, he said, had been caused by the recent telegram of President Cleveland to ex-representative Tracy of Albany, endorsing the party platform and expressing the hope that a party victory would be achieved.

The fact was pointed out that the President has reliable sources of information in every county, and that he is able to furnish him with the most accurate data. The President, he says, has waited until the very last minute and carefully considered all the information received from his trusted lieutenants.

The opinion has been formed, this gentleman says, that a Democratic victory is on the eve of being consummated, and the President, in order to secure for himself the chief share of credit, forwarded his telegram of endorsement. Mr. Tracy had the outlook been extremely doubtful, he says, an endorsement of the platform would not have been given, and the result would have been left to suffer all the opprobrium of defeat.

This course of reasoning, more than all other claims combined, has thoroughly frightened the New York Republicans, and caused them to believe that the President has intelligence of such authentic character as to make party defeat possible if not probable.

Vaughn Class Concert.
The attendance at the fifth annual concert of the Vaughn Class, which was given last night at Cavalry Baptist Sunday school house, was a flattering and well deserved tribute to the ladies and gentlemen who were on the program. The program was well received and the audience at the rule at these delightful affairs.

The committee decided to recommend to the body that a circular letter be sent to each member of the auxiliary finance committee, to accompany a general appeal to the members of the societies, calling attention to the fact that the Endeavorers' $10,000 fund had not quite been completed, and asking that a further canvass for subscriptions be made among the newly elected members and among the members who had not yet subscribed in the various societies. These subscriptions are payable in six installments before June 1, 1896.

After a discussion of the various items of expense incident to the convention the committee adjourned to meet next Friday evening.

Syracuse, Oct. 25, 1895

Mr. Sam'l Friedlander,

New York Clothing House.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of the 17th is to hand, and we note contents.

We would have replied at once, but the importance of the matter and the absence of Brother Louis caused the delay.

We have carefully considered your request, and are very sorry to hear of your position, but must decline to extend your note, due December 2d, for any longer period.

We expect you to meet same when due and not put us to any unnecessary trouble and expense.

Respectfully,

BERGHER BROS.

Our Only Chance

The prospect is black indeed, and we can see but one way to save ourselves. We have decided to adopt the desperate measure of sacrificing our superb stock of Winter Clothing and Overcoats at almost any price to raise cash. We must have the money—$12,500—to meet this note by December 2. The time is short—the amount very great.

Suits, Trousers, Overcoats and Children's Clothing will have to be turned into money at once. It's all new goods—no shoddy. You know the quality we've made a reputation for. The stock has not even been picked over yet—so backward has the season been. During the next thirty days every Suit and Overcoat will be sold for less than wholesale.
